This is a bad idea and would place yet another operational burden and expense on the stations. It would all but end anything creative on the programming side. Please don't.